Anticipated Score is what the students were expected to score. This anticipated score came from how the student did on the InView test. It is their cognitive score.

The "Total" score encompasses all subject scores.

A Cognitive Score provides information about a student's intellectual strengths and weaknesses, as well as insight into his or her overall cognitive potential. The test gives general information about a student's abilities compared to others his or her age in several areas. The tests are intended to be a predictor of how well and in what ways a child will learn new information.
